Artistic students honored

The "Arte Nuestro" Awards: Understanding your Heritage honored six Hispanic elementary and high school students earlier this month, for their artistic achievement in an educational program.

The program, made possible by Sara Lee Corporation, invited students in grades 5-12 to prepare an essay, graphic or craft project to express their interpretations of the recent pre-Columbian art exhibition, The Ancient Americas: Art from Sacred Landscapes on view at The Art Institute of Chicago from

Oct. 10, 1992 - Jan. 3, 1993.

The six winning youths recently were selected from over 65 participating students by a judging committee of arts, business and community leaders in Chicago.

During the awards ceremony, each winner received $500 in cash, as well as an additional $500 for the respective school represented.

The six winning pieces of artwork are being displayed at Bertoncini Gallery, 770 N. LaSalle, through March 31.
