Bureau of Tourism promotes destinations, events via Spanish Web site

CHICAGO — This summer, the Illinois Bureau of Tourism is making travel planning much easier.

The organization is offering a wealth of information on destinations, attractions, accommodations, new happenings around the state and even pre-planned travel packages and itineraries on its Spanish-language Web site, www.disfrutaillinois.com and through its toll-free number, (800) 226-6632 which is staffed by Spanish-speaking travel counselors.

The newly updated Web site allows for easy access to travel, booking and itinerary information for destinations throughout the state, including a variety of getaway packages designed with Hispanic interests in mind.

The new culturally relevant packages provide detailed itineraries with activity themes such as family fun, romantic getaways, outdoor activities, and cultural/historical sites.
